

FINANCIAL WIZARD NOW IN JAIL; NEW DEVELOPMENTS EXPECTED

OFFICIALS LOOK FOR CONCEALED ASSETS OF PONZI

Large Sums Believed Placed
In Banks In Wife's
Name.

BANK IMPLICATED Bank Commissioner To Appear Before Federal Grand Jury.

Boston, Aug. 14.—With Charles Ponzi locked up in East Cambridge jail officials turned their attention to a hunt for concealed assets.

Federal Auditor Pride declared that large sums of money, alleged to have been put in Mrs. Ponzi's name, will be recovered from banks and that probably other sums held in agents names will be retrieved.

News of her husband's arrest is being kept from Mrs. Ponzi, who expects to become a mother soon. She believes her husband is out of the city on a business trip.

Also locked in jail is Charles M. Brightwell, formerly of Los Angeles, and three other officials of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange company, a Ponzi rival.

The remaining of this company's branches throughout New England were being closed today. An investigation was under way to determine its liabilities.

U. S. District Attorney Gallagher's effort to have Auditor Pride examine the books of the Hanover Trust Company, which was dragged down with Ponzi, has been halted by State Bank Commissioner Allen. As a result Gallagher states he will issue a summons for the bank commissioners to appear before the federal grand jury with the bank's papers and books.

Many persons who realized that 50 percent on money invested in Ponzi's "get rich quick" schemes have begun to turn back their profits to state attorney general Allen. They are actuated by a desire to help the thousands who staked their all on Ponzi and now face financial ruin.

With Ponzi's liabilities now estimated at $5,000,000, the rush of note holders in the state house grows. Officials have found that some investors beat Ponzi by raising their amount on the notes. Ponzi says he knows that many notes were raised from $100 to $1,000.

A special session of the grand jury will probably be called to handle the Ponzi and Old Colony cases.

JULIAN WINNER BY 2400 VOTES WITH ALL COUNTIES REPORTED

Defeats O'Neil For Democratic Senatorial Nomination.

Columbus, Aug. 14.—With complete primary election returns from 80 of Ohio's 88 counties on file today at the secretary of state's office, W. A. Julian, Cincinnati, apparently has defeated about 2400 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Attorney C. T. Marshall, Zanesville, is leading Judge Frank W. Geiger, Springfield, by 4909 votes for the Republican nomination for chief justice of the state supreme court.

Indications are that J. T. Tracy, Portsmouth, has defeated E. M. Fullington, Columbus, for the Republican nomination for state auditor by about 1500 votes.

The biggest plurality of any primary candidates is believed to have been won by Lieut. Governor Clarence J. Brown, renominated on the Republican ticket by a plurality, probably, in excess of 110,000.

Pre-primary prediction that a new record for total votes would be set up at this week's state wide primaries seems to have made good. Indications are that the Republican cast a total vote of about 325,000 while the Democrats polled about 130,000 votes.

CHARGES MILK PRODUCERS ASK TOO HIGH PRICE

East Liverpool, O., Aug. 14.—Milk producers in the East Liverpool district charge from 75 cents to $1 more for 100 pounds of milk than is paid in any other section of the state, declared Maurice Langan, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Fair Price Commission, today, following a conference with retail milk consumers who proposed to increase prices. He said he will ask department of justice agents to investigate.

MARSHALL DISPLACES GEIGER IN RACE FOR CHIEF JUSTICE. LATE RETURNS SHOW

Fullington Concedes Defeat By Tracy For Republican Nomination For State Auditor;
Vote Is Close.

Columbus, Aug. 14.—C. T. Marshall of Zanesville forged ahead of Frank W. Geiger of Springfield for the Republican nomination for chief justice of the supreme court.

Complete returns from 80 counties gave Marshall a lead of 4,909 over Geiger. Partial returns from the remaining counties indicate an increase in Marshall's plurality, it was said at the secretary of state's office.

The closest race on either ticket was between J. T. Tracy of Portsmouth and E. M. Fullington of Columbus for the Republican nomination for state auditor. Fullington conceded defeat, however, and congratulated Tracy. The latter's plurality will be approximately 1,500.

The biggest vote getter of the primary election was C. J. Brown, lieutenant governor. He will have a plurality of perhaps 110,000 over the nearest of his two competitors, a surprise to Republican leaders, who were equally surprised at Brown's initial nomination two years ago.

The total Republican vote seems to have been 325,000 to 330,000, the largest ever cast at a primary election in Ohio.

Because of the supposed lack of serious contests, a supposition disproved by the close Julian-O'Neil senatorship race, Democrats cast only about 130,000 votes.

Indications are W. A. Julian, Cincinnati, won the Democratic nomination for United States senatorship by 2,300 to 2,400. Julian left for New York immediately after casting his vote Tuesday.

Still declining to admit defeat, O'Neil said: "My representatives will make a thorough investigation, scrutiny and analysis of the vote by wards and precincts in a group of counties where leaders, committees and organizations in advance of the election publicly set up assurances and guarantees of my defeat. I shall be a good loser and a good Democrat when it is officially ascertained that I am a just loser in my party's primary."

Judge Kent W. Hughes of Lima announced his withdrawal as a candidate for judge of the supreme court after his nomination without opposition. The only reason he gave is that if elected he would have to move to Columbus, while he prefers to live in Lima. His present term as court of appeals judge expires in 1925.

H. L. Conn of Van Wert defeated Judge W. H. Kinder of Findlay for Democratic renomination for the appellate judgeship in that district, expiring next February.

LOCAL COAL COMPANY GRANTED CORPORATION PAPERS ON FRIDAY

The Walker Coal Co., is the name of a new corporation in this city granted incorporation papers in Columbus Friday.

The company is incorporated for $15,000 to handle coal. The incorporators are J. J. Stout, who recently came here from Welch, W. Va., and purchased an interest in the F. W. Walker Coal Company, his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Stout, F. W. Walker, head of the old company, George Smith and Miss Glenna M. Barrows, the two last named being employees of the old company.

The incorporation of the new company means the enlargement and development of the local yards according to Mr. Stout, and increased facilities for handling coal and customers. The incorporators have not yet met for organization.

PORCH CAMPAIGN MAY BE CHANGED FRIDAY

Harding Confers With Senator Weeks On Conduct Of Senator's Campaign; Changes
Are Likely.

Marion, O., Aug. 14.—Upon a conference Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for president, and former Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, are to hold here today, may hinge the extent of the Harding front porch campaign, it was said.

Weeks is one of the "big five" acting in an intimate advisory capacity in the conduct of the senator's campaign. The others are Harry M. Daugherty, the senator's chief lieutenant; A. T. Hert, of Kentucky; Charles D. Hilles, of New York and Jake L. Hamon of Oklahoma.

Weeks, Hert, Hilles and Hamon are all members of the Republican national committee.

Weeks is coming here to counsel with the Republican nominee as to how far the "big five" believe his front porch campaign should be pushed, and how extensively he should tour the country before the November election.

It is known, for instance, Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, believes Senator Harding should "show himself" in some of the more populous cities of the east and west. Penrose sent word to that effect to the Republican nominee through Daugherty, who saw him in Philadelphia recently.

It is understood Weeks is coming here to present the views of Penrose and other Republican leaders in the east to the Republican nominee regarding the progress his Marion campaign has already made.

Others of the "big five" may follow Weeks here.

That will probably depend upon the talk Senator Harding has with the Republican headquarters at Chicago after Week's arrival.

The day is likely to be fraught with important political developments. The senator is awaiting a decision by the "big five" before making up his mind as to how many speeches he will deliver elsewhere than Marion.

It was stated at his headquarters the front porch situation is rapidly reaching a point where a definite statement regarding it may be forthcoming from the senator at any time.

NOMINEE WITHDRAWS NAME FROM BALLOT

Columbus, O., Aug. 14.—After being nominated, without opposition, as a Democratic candidate for state supreme court judge at the state wide primaries last Tuesday, Judge Kent W. Hughes, Lima, has withdrawn. He explained that, if elected, he would have to move to Columbus. He prefers to reside at Lima, where he is serving as appellate judge. His term does not expire until 1925.

The Democratic state central committee is expected to name Judge Hughes' successor as a candidate for the supreme judgeship at its reorganization meeting here next Tuesday.

BOLSHEVIK CAVALRY 15 MILES FROM WARSAW

Fate of Warsaw Hinges On Vistula Bridgeheads West
Of City; Russians Mass Forces
For Attack.

London, Aug. 14.—General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik army has again defeated the reds on the Crimean front, capturing 400 prisoners, according to a news agency dispatch from Constantinople today.

General's fleet is bombarding the red positions at Otkhskoff.

The reds are launching violent assaults over a wide front near the Dnieper river.

Berlin, Aug. 14.—Heavy fighting between the Russians and the Polish left flank is in progress along the Warsaw-Danzig corridor, where the reds are trying to break through to the Vistula river, according to advices to the Marienwerder today. The Russians that captured Mlava were reported to be attempting an advance in the direction of Plutovo.

No fighting was reported from the Siedlec sector where the Polish armistice and peace envoys are scheduled to cross the lines on their way to Minsk this evening.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Three French cruisers were today ordered to Odessa from the Levant by the French minister of marine. This was generally regarded as the first step by France towards according active military aid to General Wrangel's defacto government in southern Russia.

The keynote of most of the French press comment upon the Russian situation was that "France and the United States are now pursuing a common policy against the Russian bolsheviks."

The Echo De Paris pointed out that "the world's first military power and the world's richest people have affirmed identical views."

Premier Lloyd George's pitiable excuses," was the head used by the Matin over its London dispatches.

The Journal refers to the American note to Italy, announcing that the United States will not recognize the soviet government, "as a decisive factor." Anatole France, writing in the socialist newspaper Humanite does not share the opinion apparently held in some quarters that the United States will assist in giving military aid to General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik army.

"France stands alone in a terrible situation," said M. France. "With a feeble voice I cry to the French masses: 'Save the peace of the world.'"

James M. Beck, a former official of the United States government was quoted by the Matin as saying:

"The United States hates bolshevism. We maintain the right to crush off all sedition and still all contempt for law when it is for the good of a republican people."

OHIO G.O. P. EDITORS HEAR SEN. HARDING AT MARION HOME

Nominee Makes Plea For Return To Old-time
Morality.

Marion, O., Aug. 14.—To Governor Cox's declaration that the Republican party stands on the skyline of a setting sun, Senator Harding replied that "if we look backward to clear our vision, we may look forward more confidently."

"Call it reaction if you like," said the Republican nominee in a speech to the Ohio Republican Editorial association, "but we need the old standards of honesty, the lofty standards of fidelity. If we are living in the past, to recall the wisdom of Washington, the equal rights of Jefferson, the genius of Hamilton, the restoration of McKinley or the awakening of Roosevelt, I am happy to drink of the past for my inspiration for the morrow. Every hope of life is of tomorrow, but the glory of 10,000 tomorrows was wrought in the wisdom gleaned on yesterday."

The senator's speech was a plea for a return to old-time morality and fairness. If everyone concerned had been "rigidly honest," he said, peace might long since have been established and industrial and social unrest quieted. He also advocated a forest policy to insure an adequate domestic supply of timber to meet, among other needs, the demand for print paper pulp.

There was no direct reference to the league of nations, but the candidate revealed that he expected soon to elaborate on his previous declarations for an international understanding that would not imperil American integrity.

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF FRANCOIS JOINVILLE August 14, 1818.

Francois Ferdinand Philippe-Louis Marie, Prince de Joinville, was the third son of Louis Philippe, King of France, and was born at Neuilly, France, in 1818. When he was 15 years old he became lieutenant of the navy. Two years later he became famous by heading a landing party at Vera Cruz and taking prisoner, with his own hands, the Mexican general Arista. For this he was given the honor of bringing the remains of Napoleon from St. Helena to France.

He became very popular with the people. Nevertheless, the revolution of 1848 swept him away with the other French princes. He lived quietly until the outbreak of the American Civil war, when he went to Washington and placed the service of his son and two of his nephews at the disposal of the United States government. Little was heard of him after that until the overthrow of the French empire in 1870, when he reentered France, only to be promptly expelled. He returned, however, and joined the army under an assumed name.

His desire to serve his country was rewarded a year later when he was elected to the National Assembly. By this time he was so deaf as to be politically useless, and he had to resign. Ten years later the law against pretenders to the throne deprived him even of his naval rank, but he continued to live in France and died in Paris in 1900. He had married the sister of the Emperor of Brazil.

SHIELDS TRIAL WILL BE HELD FRIDAY; CONTINUANCE GIVEN

William Shields, colored, presiding judge in Precinct G, Fourth ward, and elected Tuesday as central committee man from the precinct asked for a continuance of his hearing on charges of election frauds filed Tuesday in police court, Saturday morning and was granted a continuance until Friday morning at nine o'clock. Three affidavits charging Shields with election frauds, two charging him with failure to swear voters as to their eligibility to vote and one for going in a booth and assisting a voter to mark his ballot, were filed against Shields Tuesday and his hearing, all three counts set for Saturday morning.

Shields appeared in police court Saturday morning but through his attorney, Judge Marcus Shoup, stated that he had not had time to prepare his case and asked that the hearing be postponed until Friday morning. In agreeing to the postponement, Police Judge E. Dawson Smith announced that he expected to have final jurisdiction in the case, and for that reason would hold Shields' trial before a police jury. As the offense carried with it a fine not to exceed $1,000 and a sentence of not less than thirty days or more than six months in the work house, the trial is permissible in police court without binding the prisoner over to a higher court.

The arrest of Shields on the three counts stated grew out of the March political fight between the Marshall-Gowdy faction and the Shoup-Schmidt faction for control of the Republican central committee.

SUNDAY PROGRAM CLOSES WEEK OF BIBLE CONFERENCE

Congressman H. W. Temple of Western Pennsylvania will be the new voice in the Bible Conference tent, West Third street, Saturday night. This with the closing day program of Sunday will bring the week's program to a close.

The Sabbath program includes two addresses by Rev. A. G. Schatzman of Delaware, Ohio, at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. and a Vesper service conducted by Dr. R. M. Russell who has had this feature at all the past week. The local ministers and lay workers are hard at work on plans to conserve the Bible conference to Xenia notwithstanding the removal of Xenia Seminary which has been a serious loss in standing back of the movement. It is now believed that difficulties may be surmounted and the Conference continued.

At Friday's session Dr. Thornton the Bible school man dealt with the problem of graded lessons in the School.

Dr. Frank N. Palmer finished his work Friday and has returned to his appointment in Indiana.

The closing address of the evening was by Congressman Fess who won the admiration of the crowd by the heroic efforts he had made to be present in the face of conflicting appointments and weather conditions which added to the wear and tear of a hard day. His address dealt with some of the reconstruction problems of the age in which we are living. One of the popular figures at the Conference has been the presiding officer Rev. R. A. Hutchison, D. D. who is Secretary of the Home Mission Board of the U. P. denomination. Dr. Hutchison has a personality of grace and cheer which has won him hosts of friends.

FREAK VEGETABLES PRODUCED BY R. R. MEN IN GARDENS

When B. Collins Gifford, Pennsylvania railroad employe in this city, boasted of an extra large radish which he had raised in his garden, he started something.

Many of the railroaders have their home gardens to occupy them in the evenings and since the announcement of the giant radish, they have been vying with each other to produce their favorite vegetable in some extra large or freak form.

Charley Stier thought that he had a corner on the first prize, when he boasted of an ear of corn, raised by himself, which when properly fanned from infancy grew to reach the enormous attainment of fifteen inches in length.

But now comes C. Theodore Highley of the Round House who is laying claim to the blue ribbon with an entry of a single bean stalk, or vine or whatever beans grow on, that with proper persuasion and care has been made to yield a bushel and a half of beans a record for one vine.

It is anticipated by railroaders that Mr. Highley's picture will be with his testimonials of the quality of the beans in the next issue of "The Kentucky Wonder Bean—Who is it?" Published in Boston.

UBBLE OF WIZARD PONZI BURST AND HE ARRESTED— SAID TO BE SEVEN MILLIONS SHORT.

To possess money is very well; it may be a most valuable servant; to be possessed by it, is to be possessed by a devil, and one of the meanest and worstkind of devils. This is only another way of putting the Bible text: "The love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have perished from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

Some 40,000 investors entrusted a total variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to Charles Ponzi, of Boston, in a money making scheme which, postal officials declare to be absolutely impossible to fulfillment.

Ponzi surrendered to the Federal authorities, explaining that he was unable to meet his obligations because of the closing of the Hanover Trust Company, where the bulk of his funds were deposited.

Anxious inquiries at the newspaper offices and feverish conversations indicated that the proprietors of small businesses, professional men and women, clerks and stenographers by the thousand accepted the bait of "50 PER CENT PROFIT IN 45 DAYS."

Agents working in offices and factories interested large numbers, particularly among the Italians.

The mystery of Ponzi's methods added to the attractiveness of his promises. It is said that in many cases (as Ponzi claimed) the possibilities of profitably exchanging American dollars for French francs and francs for Italian lire and the latter for something else seemed plausible enough without a clear comprehension of just how the thing worked out. But the fact is he was not doing this at all. He was just simply lying about it.

In discussing the Ponzi case Chief Postoffice Inspector Hal B. Moseby said: "The most amazing thing, and the thing which I am not able to understand, is why people invested their money with Ponzi. I only can attribute it to his personality—they invested in the man, not the business. We warned hundreds of people against him. Many of them heeded the warning, but undoubtedly there were many who gave their money to him notwithstanding."

"We found it difficult to talk with some people—they were so impressed and believed so strongly that he was doing what he said he was doing."

"One of Ponzi's attractive features was the easy manner in which he talked in millions instead of hundreds or thousands. He simply charmed, dazzled the people."

"He appealed to the gambling spirit of the people by the quick action on the investments. When he started out he promised 50 per cent in 90 days, but he paid it in 45 days, with the result that many reinvested their principal and their winnings."

Ponzi acknowledges that he has been a "jail bird" twice, once in Canada, and once at Atlanta, Georgia, and then made the following statement:

"I am not the first one to have committed a sin, and not the only one, not even in the city of Boston."

"When I see others who were under the same situation years ago and now today occupy prominent positions, I do not see why I should be made the exception to the general rule and become the object of persecution on the part of the authorities, press and the public."

"Charles W. Morse, at one time a prominent banker, also was convicted in the United States Courts and sentenced to 15 years in Atlanta, Ga. I know, because I was there with him."

"He was released after having served a very small part of his sentence. He has been occupying for years, a position still greater than before. He is a banker today and deals with the United States Government and associates with the most respectable men in the United States."

"I do not mean in any way to imply that he is not deserving of respect of the public, but I merely ask, if he is deserving why shouldn't I be?"

We are apt to turn up our noses at those who get "bit" with gold brick schemes like this, as though we are too smart for such, but before we brag too much should refresh our minds about the Durango Iron Mountain affair, and the Interstate Investment (Multiple of 10) Insurance Company.

CROSS-COUNTRY AIR MAIL.

The air mail service is growing. After the New York-Washington and New York-Chicago routes became established, other parts of the country started regular air mail systems. It is now expected that air mail service from New York to San Francisco will begin in September. Landing fields are yet to be completed at Cheyenne, Wyo., Salt Lake City, Utah and Reno, Nev. These cities have obtained the fields and let the contracts for construction of hangars, which are expected to be ready on time. As soon as these are finished, the service can open.

The first leg will be from New York to Omaha. On this leg aluminum planes will be used. From Omaha to San Francisco De Havilland planes are planned.

A very few years will doubtless see the disappearance of the stop and transference of mail from one plane to another on the ground. Air traffic rapidly becomes stable and dependable. It will be a surprisingly short interval before the first regular non-stop mail and passenger service from New York to San Francisco is a matter of fact. "Around the world in eighty days," once an almost incredible feat, now an easy little jaunt, may give place to "around the world in eighty hours."

The hearing of Osborn's petition for leave to annex a re-location site was continued by the county commissioners Friday afternoon until next Tuesday. At that time the board will inspect the desired site of 240 acres and hear the testimony of Mayor Z. T. Hebble of Fairfield, who is ill.

Because of the location of the site desired by Osborn, about 400 feet from the corporation line of Fairfield, residents of the village are strenuously opposing the efforts of the town to annex the land. They contend that the location of Osborn on the site, will effectively prevent the expansion of Fairfield in that direction, which, they aver, is the only logical direction for it to enlarge; that it will take in the traction lines, and that eventually Osborn will attempt to absorb Fairfield.

In order to make the property contiguous to Osborn, the town is including in its annexation plans, a strip of land 400 feet wide, connecting Osborn and the proposed re-location site. Judge Shoup, counsel for Fairfield, argued that annexation of this neck of land would not make the re-location site "contiguous" to Osborn, in the meaning of the law, but the commissioners overruled this objection.

The Miami Conservancy District which owns the land desired by Osborn, has joined in the prayer of the petition.

BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING BURNS TO GROUND ON FRIDAY

Loss estimated at nearly $5,000, partially covered by insurance, was caused by fire, due to lightning, which burned the large frame barn and most of its contents on the farm of George Galloway, of Xenia city, a mile and a half north of Xenia on the Springfield pike, Friday night. Waldo F. McCoy is the tenant on the farm.

The downpour of rain extinguished the flames in time to prevent other farm buildings igniting. The dwelling and several outbuildings were threatened.

Twelve tons of hay, a number of farming implements and other property were lost in the fire. Several farm machines and some harness were dragged from burning bales. There was no live stock in the barn, but a number of young pigs in a hay rack close to the barn were endangered. They were coaxed from their quarters.

Mr. Galloway estimates his loss at about $4,000. Mr. McCoy's loss will amount to about $600. The fire caused a glare which attracted people for miles, many persons from this city going to the scene of the blaze.

OSBORN ORGANIZES NEW HARDING CLUB

A new Harding club has been organized at Osborn, with its purpose to assist in the campaign to put the Republican candidate across in the November presidential election.

Harry Frahn, mayor of the village of Osborn has been elected president of the club which meets every Wednesday in the Osborn Band building.

The Club has formed its own band and is planning a trip to Marion soon to visit the Presidential candidate. The club also plans to tour the state in the interests of Senator Harding.

FESS SAYS COUNTRY IS WITH HARDING IN MARION TALK

"The country is with Harding." So declared Congressman S. D. Fess, in a stirring address to 150 newspaper men gathered from all parts of the state Friday at Marion, to attend a reception given in their honor by Senator Harding.

Dr. Fess went on to say that in a recent talk with a leader of the Democratic party in Lincoln, Nebraska, the latter had admitted to him that they were counting largely on the state of Ohio to bring them victory, and realized that the country today is for Harding.

"You do not need to be afraid of this front porch campaign," Dr. Fess continued, "If the Republican campaign continues its evolution with the same wisdom and foresight it has pursued up to this time there can be little doubt as to the outcome next November."

"I am hoping that the Democratic leaders will pursue their plan of campaign just a little longer. If Franklin T. Roosevelt continues to make such statements as are attributed to him in recent addresses, he will do much to aid the Republican cause. For instance take one of his late statements regarding Democratic administration economy, in which he said the party was able to pay off on the national debt $2,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt has the insolence to make capital out of economies effected by the congress, by refusing to pass appropriations, congress, for that same purpose, wanted by the administration saved to this country $2,414,000,000 and were it not for this the nation today would be in the market to borrow money."

CLARK COUNTY FAIR OFFERS GOOD RACING CARD NEXT WEEK

Springfield, O., August 14.—Horse racing has been the magnet, which has attracted great throngs to the county fairs for years, and 1920 promises to be no exception as the light harness is growing in favor of the public.

The people, both young and old, will flock to the fairs offering the best racing program. The Clark county annual event, which will open Tuesday, August 17, and continue through the following Friday, has arranged the most attractive four-day card ever attempted by a county fair in Ohio. It consists of fourteen events and the purses total $11,000.

Of the fourteen races, eight of them are stake events, each with a $1,000 purse attached, while the remaining six are $500 class races. Two of the early closers will be raced daily. The program has been arranged so that there will be four races on the opening and closing days and three each on the other days.

So popular are stake events with the horsemen of today that a total of 210 entries were made in the eight here and they include quite a few horses, which have been good money winners on the Grand Circuit so far this year.

One of the big features will be the races for colt trotters and the winners of two-year-old and three-year-old stakes are expected to repeat their victories in the Breeders' Purse and the Governor's Cup events at the Ohio State Fair.

Another feature, which has met with the hearty approval of race goers everywhere, will be introduced at the coming Clark County Fair. All of the races, excepting the one for juveniles, will be decided on the three-heat plan.

Mrs. W. E. Daoust of Carlisle, Ill., the only lady trainer campaigning a stable of horses, will drive at the Clark County Fair. She is an expert driver and has been the center of attraction wherever she has appeared this season. Mrs. Daoust has shown as much skill in handling horses in a race as the men trainers and she has won first money regularly at the different meetings.

IMPROVEMENTS ON WAY FOR WASHINGTON HOSPITAL IN CITY

With the recent purchase by Dr. H. R. Hawkins of the property of Mrs. Amanda Evans, adjoining to Washington Hospital, plans have been laid to improve the attractiveness of the hospital with a park.

The double house on the Evans' property just purchased will be moved away and the vacant lot will be converted into a little park with grass plot and flowers. Its purpose is to permit a recreation ground for convalescent patients. A band stand will be erected in the enclosure and Dr. Hawkins hopes to arrange for concerts by the Chamber of Commerce band at intervals.

With the additions being built to Washington Hospital, the first hospital devoted solely to the use of colored patients in the state, the place now has a capacity of 100 people. Twenty seven disabled soldiers are being cared for at the institution the local hospital taking care of colored patients from the seventh district, including Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Rippling Rhymes

Walt Mason

WOE IN THE WEST.

A deadly blight is sweeping along the Western Slope, and men give way to weeping and say farewell to hope. And heart-sick wives and daughters beneath those azure skies look out upon the waters with hard and story eyes. The children, they are weeping, their little bosoms sore, while in the dust they trailing the toys they use no more. There's moaning in the cabin, there's groaning in the hall; the future's bleak and drab in the eyes of one and all. The daughters of affliction are crouched beneath the stars, and in the choicest diction they curse their stranded cars. The tourist shakes his talon at heaven with a snort, for when he'd buy a gallon he only gets a quart. In vain the plute is waving his wad of good long green, and futile is his raving—he can't get gasoline. "No gas!" The sign is hanging from stations everywhere, with travelers haranguing the dealers in despair. Talk not of grief or sorrow, of troubles you have seen, till you can't buy or borrow a quart of gasoline! Talk not of fortunes cruel, oh, vain and piffling man, till you can't buy the fuel to push your big sedan! Speak not to me of anguish, of pain of any sort, until you wait and languish two days to get a quart!

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a bachelor and can safely say that I had never been in love until four months ago. At that time I met the most charming girl in the world at a friend's house.

I entertained this girl at dinner at my home, thinking my parents would feel the same enthusiasm I did. My father was charmed, but mother said the girl was affected and calculated the result of everything she did.

Of course it made me angry to have mother talk so and I thought she was prejudiced. I continued to see the girl and was with her four and five times a week.

Then the girl's sweetness began to sicken me. She fell all over herself to be pleasant and let me make love to her as much as I pleased. The worst of it is that I have an old-fashioned conscience and feel that I had no right to take her kisses without marrying her. I did intend to marry her at first, but said nothing because I wanted to be sure of her before I dared such a thing.

Do you think I am duty bound to marry the girl? I know now that she is waiting for me to say the word.

You are not bound to marry the girl because you said nothing about marriage. I think, however, as you say, that you should not kiss the girl.

I believe that there should be more frankness in the world. Write the girl a letter and tell her the truth. Say that you find you do not care enough for her to marry that you cared for her as she must realize, but now you find yourself unable to go on in the way you have been feeling as you now do.

My sympathy goes out to you because she probably cares a great deal for you or she would not permit you to make love as you say she does. Let this experience be a lesson and do not play the lover again until you are sure the role fits you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman and I have been married four months. We have one trouble which stands in the way of our being completely happy together. He is always hurrying me. If we go anywhere I have to be told to hurry every two minutes. It wouldn't be so bad except that I am naturally prompt. Before I was married I got around all right without anyone to tell me how to do it.

Just last Sunday we started out on a little trip. At five in the morning he woke me up to say we would have to hurry if we got our train at eight o'clock. It was ridiculous because all my preparations were made.

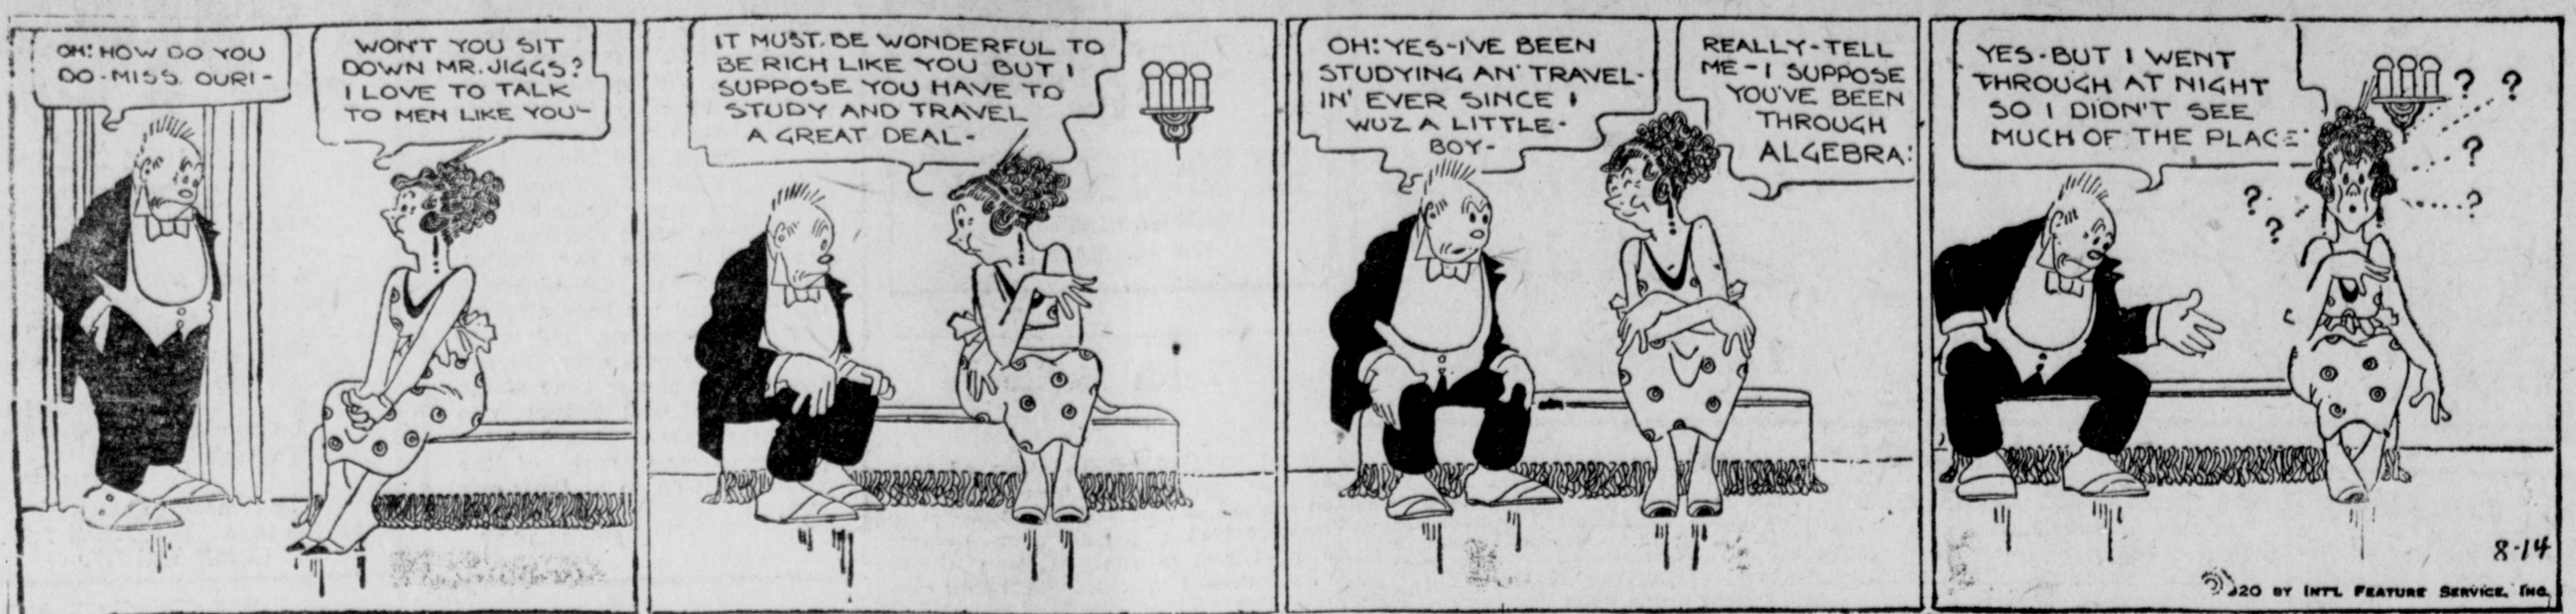

We started out in a hurry and had to wait three-quarters of an hour at the station.

This probably sounds like a little meager, but it is very serious to me. It is so annoying and I am sure it is as bad for a man to nag as for a woman.

H. L. S.

Married life without some little annoyances would be too perfect and too monotonous. When your husband hurries you, sit down and say you will not move until you think that the proper time has come to get ready. I do think that you ought to explain to him that you have a certain number of things to do before you go anywhere and that you generally have the time counted out that it will take to get ready and ask him to use as much patience with you as he can when you happen to be going away together. You might point out to him that you generally get where you are going as promptly as is necessary.

MENU KINT

Breakfast. Corn Omelet. Coffee.

Hot Biscuit.

Luncheon. Creamed Beef on Toast. Tomato Salad. Tea.

Gingerbread.

Dinner. Flanked Steak. Mashed Potatoes. Spinach. Tomato Salad. Berry Pie. Coffee.

FOR THE TABLE.

Flanked Steak—(Serves four)— Select one and one-half pounds of round steak, wipe it clean with a damp cloth and pound as much flour into it as you possibly can. In a skillet place one large onion (cut fine) and some fryings, and fry onions brown. When fried remove them and place the steak in skillet, season it with salt, pepper and place it in a roaster as soon as it is browned on both sides. In the roaster, then, put a little water, and place the fried onions over the steak, cooking slowly two or three hours.

Pickled Beets With Eggs—Cook about a dozen medium-sized beets, peel and slice, then pour over them the following liquid: One cup of vinegar (if very strong, add a small amount of water), one and one-half tablespoons of sugar, and one-half teaspoon of mixed spices. It is well to taste this before adding all of the sugar, as tastes vary and some might not like it so sweet. Bring this to a boil and pour over the beets after they are cool. Let this set twelve hours at least so that the liquid is well colored. The day before you want to use them, boil six or eight eggs until they are hard. Plunge in cold water as soon as done and then take off the shells. Drop these into the pan or jar with the pickled beets so they are well under the liquid. In a few hours they are colored and ready to serve.

Bran Bread—One cup bran, two cups white flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup dark corn syrup, one-half teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups sour milk or buttermilk, salt. Stir all together well. Let raise fifteen minutes before baking in moderate oven. This is an especially good and healthful bread.

CANNING A LA FIRELESS.

Here is a recipe for canning peaches via the fireless that may be accepted as standard and used in the canning of other fruits, always, of course, observing the time necessary for the fruit to remain in the cooker, depending upon whether it is hard fruit or soft fruit like berries.

Fireless Canned Peaches—Three quarts of peaches, four cups of sugar, three quarts of water.

Make a syrup of the sugar and water, stirring the sugar carefully until dissolved. Peel the peaches—or if preferred with peel, simply rub with a clean cloth without peeling. Pack in sterilized jars and cover with boiling syrup.

Place the cover on top, but don't screw on tightly. Put the jars in the cooker pail and leave in the fireless for one hour. Then remove, place the rubber on jar and fill to overflowing with the boiling syrup. Seal and set aside to cool.

Marmalades may also be preserved in the fireless, as well as green tomatoes and ripe ones, fresh figs wherever they are available, berries, in fact, any fruit or vegetable. The time in cooking is naturally longer than if the food is heated directly over the flame.

But the preserving process is much easier, partly because the kitchen is not so hot, and it isn't necessary to keep watching the boiling during the entire period.

"JUST A GIRL" BY JANE PHELPS

MARY QUOTES HER MOTHER

Chapter 90

During the evening Mary returned to my meeting with Jack Pryor. She was so sympathetic, so sweet, that I just laid my head on her shoulder and had a good cry. The disappointment because of not securing a position, coupled with the unexpected meeting, and the memories it had evoked, had made me foolish—I told her. She petted and comforted me as if I were a child instead of as old as she. I soon felt better.

"A little cry don't hurt no one," she said as I wiped my eyes. "Now go on to bed. He'll most likely go back to New York tomorrow and you'll never see him again—unless you send for him."

"I'll never do that you may be sure. I refused as I followed Mary's advice, and went to bed. But I did not share her optimism.

The next day when I went out I wore a veil, and carefully kept away from any place where it was at all likely I would run across the elegant Jack Pryor. I walked as little as possible as I applied at place after place only to be told they were filled or that I was not expert enough. The street cars were sure to be safe for me; men like Jack Pryor did not ride on them as a rule.

As the days passed and I saw nothing more of Jack I again breathed freely.

Mary was not with me as much as before I had taken ill. For one thing I only spent a couple of hours each morning with her at the shop and for another, her evenings were mostly given up to Thomas Clancy. She had become engaged to Thomas and they were to be married as soon as they had saved enough to furnish a home.

"I shall keep right on working when we are married," Mary said when she told me of her engagement and showed me her ring. "A girl never knows how a man is going to turn out and I ain't taking any chances. Tom is all to the merrily as far as I know. But Ma used to say, 'No woman don't know a man till she's lived with him and I sort of have a notion Ma was right.'"

I had met Mary's Thomas and he had impressed me as a nice, straight forward young fellow, just the sort Mary would fancy. He was rather serious but Mary needed a balance wheel often. She loved pleasure, and at times lacked judgment altho perfectly able to take care of herself.

My life now seemed to run along in a ceaseless grind of work, worry and disappointment. I became depressed and unhappy. I continued to draw just enough from the business to pay Mrs. Fagin, and my car fares. But it now belonged to Mary. I had Mr. Pope attend to it so there would be no trouble about the bills, and so forth and I felt that I could not go taking money from her much longer. Also I never had been able to redeem my jewelry and the interest would soon fall due.

I could end Mother nothing at this time and could see no chance to keep my promise to make a home for her. I often wondered what I should do when my clothes wore out and I had to replace them. So far I had spent very little for clothing. Some low-heeled shoes, one cheap suit, aprons, and a few little things had taken the extent of my purchases.

I had become desperate. I offered to work for little or nothing until I had proved my worth only to be told there was no place for me. Then one day when everything looked darkest I determined to try one more place before I gave up. I applied at the office of a firm of brokers. They had advertised that they wanted a girl immediately.

To my surprise the man to whom I spoke, the manager—said he would give me a trial. I was to report for duty the next morning. I had named $10 as the salary I wished at first. I never had been paid over $8 at any place I had worked and trembled fearing I had asked too much.

I hurried home with my good news. Mary and Mrs. Fagin both rejoiced with me but Mrs. Fagin remarked when Mary left us together: "Don't set your heart on it, Miss Zena. You ain't never done that kind of work and perhaps you won't suit. I'd hate to see you feel too bad if you can't get along there."

But even dear practical Mrs. Fagin could not quell my joyous happy feeling. I was at last engaged as an office girl. I would make good. I must!

But had I known what was before me I wonder if I would have taken the place delighted as I was to get it.
